Students narrowly escape falling classroom ceiling

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
Approximately two tons of plaster ceiling in a Bay Jr. High classroom fell, smashing desks and a heater in a ninth grade Bay Junior High classroom

Wednesday morning. Teacher Michael Hamm averted a tragedy when he spotted the ceiling weakening and ordered the 32 students out of the second floor room.

"We had just begun class about 10:30 a.m. when I saw the ceiling begin to sag, so I told the children to get out as quickly as they could, and just as the last few students were getting out, part of the roof fell—smashing everything in the classroom," said Hamm.

Students Mary Necaise and Karen Hendrick were struck by the falling plaster, said Bay Jr. High Principal W.J. Cameron, but didn't appear to be hurt.

They were taken to Dr. John Leven's Clinic and then to Hancock General Hospital for x-rays as a precautionary measure.

"The hospital reported the students didn't have a scratch on them," said Cameron.

Architect Fred Wagner and Mayor Bennett were at the scene of the incident Wednesday morning where almost half the classroom ceiling caved-in.

Wagner said, "This plaster roof weighs approximately 20 pounds per square foot and there are 600 square feet of ceiling in this room, therefore the roof weighs 12,000 pounds or six tons."

"The reason the roof fell is not because there is a structural defect," continued Wagner, "there also seems to be no faulty workmanship in materials or construction."

Bay Jr. High School was built in the early 1920's.

Wagner said he came to investigate the problem "as a concerned citizen with some experience in this type of work."

He denied he appeared at the school in his role of Bay Municipal Separate School District architect.

Cameron released students from the school at 1:15 p.m. to allow time for Wagner and other building specialists to examine the structure.

Cameron said all of the upstairs rooms at Bay Junior High has plaster ceilings, but the bottom floor does not. "Classes will probably resume

Intra-system transfers OK'd for Bay Schools

By RICH ADAMS
The Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board Monday unanimously passed a resolution which requires newly arriving elementary students to register at Bay Senior High School for placement to prevent overcrowded classrooms.

The resolution was recommended to the Board by Bay School Superintendent J. D. McCullough.

He said second through fifth grade classrooms at Waveland Elementary are approaching the limit of students allowed in each classroom by state law. He added second and third grade classrooms at North Bay Elementary are well below the state requirements for number of students.

"For the rest of the school term I would like to recommend the Board require any new student in the elementary schools...to register for school at the senior high," McCullough said.

"Classrooms at North Bay in third through fifth grades are less than the state requires," he added.

"Prior to transferring students to another elementary school, I recommend the student be required to come to the superintendent, who will make a recommendation to the Board," he continued.

"I ask you to pass a resolution authorizing all students to come through the superintendent and assistant superintendent to enroll. We will place him where we believe is in the best interest of that student," he added.

He then explained that overcrowded classrooms could cause the state to revoke the school district's AA accreditation.

McCullough added the student, if assigned to a school outside the district

Grand Jury calls for new jail

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The Hancock County Grand Jury recommended in its report yesterday the building of a new jail in the County.

The report said, "The Grand Jury recommends that the Board of Supervisors take steps to finance and build a new jail and office space for the sheriff and his staff."

Albert A. Wicktom, grand jury foreman in the jury's report to the Honorable Leslie B. Gant, reported the jury considered 38 cases, "returned 29 true indictments, two true bills, and three cases referred to other courts."

Four cases were stricken from the docket.

The Grand Jury heard a report from Superintendent Terry Randolph on the condition of County schools.

In addition to checking the jail, the Grand Jury checked the Youth Court Center, County Home for the Aged, Hancock General Hospital.

J. D. (Big John) Rutherford, Chancery Clerk, appeared before the grand jury to explain functions and operation of county government.

Chief Deputy Ronnie Peterson of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department gave a lecture and showed the grand jury a display of drugs.

The Grand Jury did not visit the Hancock County Port and Harbor nor Stennis International Airport, but heard reports from the Chancery Clerk and sheriff on the growth and potential of these installations.

After the grand jury was in session three days and completed its duties, jurors respectfully asked to be recessed "under the Ingram ruling on the 10th day of January 1979."

Defense claims motive still 'key factor' in Depreo case

By RICH ADAMS
The defense attorney for Charles Edward (Chuck) Depreo said Tuesday he has submitted a list of 46 witnesses to be subpoenaed to testify in the second Janice Ladner murder trial slated to begin Jan. 22.

The first trial in October ended in a mistrial after six days of testimony.

Depreo is charged with the early morning Apr. 8, 1978 shooting death of Waveland school teacher Janice Ladner at her Kiln home.

Janice Ladner's six-year-old daughter, Joy Lynn Ladner suffered a gunshot wound in the shoulder and the home was burnt following the murder.

According to Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner Jr. and a spokesman from Hancock County Circuit Court Clerk Henry L. Otis' office, no subpoena list from the defense has yet been received here.

Ladner said he has served some 25 or 30 subpoenas for District Attorney Albert Necaise who represents the state in the Depreo case.

Depreo's attorney, James E. Atchison of Mobile, Ala., said the shooting still lacks a motive, and believes his client is innocent.

"I am convinced from all I know that Chuck Depreo is innocent of any involvement in the Janice Ladner murder, and if he is convicted, it will necessarily mean the actual criminal will remain free," Atchison said this week.

"From the time I entered this case and began our investigation around Apr. 29, 1978...there have been key facts which prevent any reasonable person from concluding that Chuck Depreo committed this horrible crime in the early morning hours of Apr. 8, 1978," the defense attorney continued.

"Things have to add up when you are dealing with a case such as this and they should add up to conclusively point to the person who perpetrated the crime," he said.

"The elements and facts in this case do not add up to Depreo being guilty, and in fact some of the untested facts agreed on by all make it virtually impossible for Depreo to have been able to physically commit everything he is charged with and even to do what he supposedly confessed to originally," Atchison stressed.

Atchison believes the lack of motive is a key issue in the case.

"There still remains the one key thing that has never been shown, and that is motive to do what was done at the Janice Ladner home," Atchison said.

"My experience in numerous cases involving physical acts by one person against another is that there always has to be a reason. There are three all-

An early morning fire Sunday claimed the life of Wendell Peter Gillan, 53, and destroyed his Ballantine Street residence.

Bay St. Louis Fire Chief Richard Fayard said State Fire Marshal Norman Cowart, upon investigation of the fire Sunday morning, attributed cause to a lit cigarette being dropped on a fabric covered chair.

Bay Police Chief Douglas Williams reports his office received a call at 5:30 a.m. from Mrs. Jan Brameyer on her Citizens Band radio reporting the fire.

Mrs. Brameyer was delivering newspapers when she spotted the fire. Lt. Richard Pate of the Bay St. Louis Fire Department and Patrolman Albert Biehl, III, both reported flames were already reaching the street when they arrived at the scene.

Lt. Pate said it was a few minutes before he and Fireman Ronald Cuevas and Alphonse Sheppard could get the flames down enough to reach the back door of the residence. Upon breaking the door down they found Gillan on the kitchen floor.

An inquest was held by Carl Banderet, Hancock County coroner, and cause of death attributed to smoke inhalation.

The coroner's jurors were Keith Starita, Albert Biehl, III, Wilbert Dorsey, Lucien Kidd, G. V. Price, III, Guy M. Lizana and bailiff was Douglas Williams.

The fire in the frame building was brought under control and close residences on either side suffered no damage.

Area utility lines were damaged by the fire, however.

Lt. Pate said the incident is the first fire alarm for him to answer involving a fatality.

In addition to the Bay St. Louis Fire and Police Departments, also assisting were the Hancock County Sheriff's office, Waveland Police and Fire Departments.

MARDI GRAS 1979

St. Paul's Carnival Association in Pass Christian this week issued its Thirteenth annual commemorative Mardi Gras doubloon.

The association, which is in its 49th year, sponsors Carnival fund-raising events for the support of St. Paul's Catholic Elementary School. The front of this year's doubloon depicts the group's theme for 1979, "Sailors Through the Ages."

Pictured is a ship's compass and log book and a globe of the World, wording "Mardi Gras" and "1979."

The doubloons are designed with a theme side which changes each year, and a permanent side which bears a replica of the Pass Christian Historical Marker and the wording "St. Paul's Carnival Association - Organized in 1930 - Dedicated to Education, Religion and Citizenship."

The Doubloons' theme side has been designed for a number of years by the organization's official "Designer to His Royal Majesty King Christian," Mrs. Karen Boudreaux. The coins have been struck in four varieties: tu-tone bronze, which sells for $2.50; silver sets, which are minted in limited numbers as collectors items.

Sets contain three coins: bronze, silver oxidized and a fine silver and sells for $16.

The popular aluminum doubloons are five cents apiece, and are thrown in great numbers from the floats.

Postage must be included on all mail orders.

Doubloon chairmen are Emmett McKeough and Mrs. Mildred Reid.

The Medallions may be purchased through St. Paul's School by calling 452-7359, by writing to St. Paul's Carnival Association, Pass Christian, or thru one of the Carnival contestant teams.

Poison center sounds alert on CO dangers

It happens every winter. A driver, usually traveling at night, gets so sleepy he can't hold his eyes open. He pulls off the road for a nap, leaves the engine running to keep warm, and never wakes up.

Fumes from a makeshift greenhouse heaters killed a Clarksdale couple trying to keep their plants from freezing.

Authorities say Robert E. Bobo, 77, and his wife Nell, 75, were found by domestic employees Monday morning in the greenhouse behind their home.

Coahoma County Coroner Ollie Haynes ruled the deaths accidental by asphyxiation.

Haynes said the couple had apparently tried to save the plants from freezing temperatures by lighting two kerosene lanterns and two charcoal-burning hibachis in the unvented greenhouse.

He said the couple went into the greenhouse to check the plants and were overcome by the fumes.

Bobo was the founder of Bobo Insurance Agency in Clarksdale.

Two New Orleans teenagers recently were overcome while waiting in their car with the motor running and heater on. One of them died.

Probably through some defect in the muffler, resonator, or pipes, carbon monoxide escaped into the body of the car instead of out the exhaust.

"Carbon monoxide is deadly poison," said Michael Hughes, coordinator for the University of Mississippi Medical Center poison control center. "Drivers should have their auto exhaust systems checked once a year, preferably. It doesn't have to be an old car to have a faulty or leaky system."

Car owners should also be aware of the danger of being in an enclosed garage while the car's engine is running. "If the garage is closed tight, don't stay in it while the car is heating up," Hughes warned.

Even a car in top condition emits carbon monoxide through the exhaust, and it can fill up a garage quickly.

Although the poison control center has no actual figures on the incidence of carbon monoxide poisonings in the state, Hughes says, "It's a fairly frequent occurrence in Mississippi. A large hospital will get several cases during the winter months."

The colorless, odorless, and tasteless gas can also be a byproduct in the function of home furnaces, space heater, and gas water heaters. "All non-electrical heating systems have the potential to put out carbon monoxide any time," Hughes said. "And if homes aren't properly ventilated, tragedy can strike there, too."

Gas burns with a bright blue flame when properly ventilated. The danger signal, according to Hughes, is a red or orange flame.

In rooms heated by unvented space heaters, Hughes recommends that a window be left open, and he advises against the use of charcoal grills inside.

The symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning begin with a headache, weakness or drowsiness, and sometimes nausea and vomiting, Hughes said.

If the process isn't reversed by getting fresh air, the victim becomes unconscious. Death may come in a matter of minutes after the unconscious state if the victim doesn't receive medical help.

"Carbon monoxide replaces oxygen in the body, depriving cells of the oxygen they need to sustain life," Hughes said.

"The quickest, most appropriate remedy is a good supply of oxygen," Hughes explained. "If you're in a car when you feel the symptoms, get out and walk around a while. If you're in the house, open the windows and doors."

An unconscious victim who is not breathing should be given cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) by someone qualified until medical help arrives. If the unconscious victim is breathing, fresh air should revive him, Hughes said.

For more information about preventing carbon monoxide poisoning or for help in any poisoning emergency, contact the UMC poison control center at 354-7660 during the day, or 968-3500 at night.

National magazine publishes Bay teacher's 'All Saints Day Skit'

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
Bay St. Louis Catholic Elementary School Teacher Dorothy Bradley has recently received recognition for an "All Saints Day Skit" published in Religion Teachers Journal.

The Journal is a national publication received by most Catholic School teachers in the United States.

Mrs. Bradley has been recognized for her achievement in Mississippi Today, a tabloid publication distributed to Catholic families throughout Mississippi.

"I was looking for something to enhance All Saints Day at Church," said Mrs. Bradley. "And I came up with a playlet to describe the practical points which, won each Saint his spot in Heaven."

"We used the skit in Church, and later Sister Bernice, religious education coordinator at Bay Catholic Elementary, suggested I send the skit off for publication," continued the teacher.

The Religion Teachers Journal published Mrs. Bradley's article in October, 1978.

"The little daily imperfections an individual can rid himself of is what I emphasized in my article," said

Mrs. Bradley.

She said the children, by reenacting how different saints overcame imperfections in their lives, learn the practical lesson of how to gain a place in Heaven for themselves.

Mrs. Bradley said she developed the skit by integrating it with different innovative teaching methods she has been working on for five years.

"The greatest thrill," said

MRS. BRADLEY

Mrs. Bradley, "was receiving a letter from Sister Grace Pilon, SBS, praising me for my article."

"Sister Pilon is responsible for the operation of Xavier University in New Orleans, and I've also based some of my teaching methods on many of her education concepts," Mrs. Bradley elaborated.

"I've also received letters from others, telling me that they used my skit," added Mrs. Bradley.

Mrs. Bradley has served on the now defunct Diocesan Human Relations Council and is a member of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Knights of Peter Claver.

She graduated from St. Rose De Lima High School, which eventually became part of the Bay Catholic Elementary School.

She earned her teaching degree from Xavier University and later came back to teach the primary grades at Bay Catholic Elementary (St. Rose De Lima) where she has attained 20 years teaching experience.

Gulf Coast Symphony Guild backs benefit bridge play

Play begins Tuesday and continues through April in a Gulf Coast Symphony Guild-sponsored bridge tournament.

Winning couple will take away a check for $150 and second prize winners will receive $100.

Many more prizes will be awarded in addition, including dinners-for-two at a number of well-known local restaurants and gift certificates from Coast shops. Refreshments will be served to the bridge players by Guild members.

In addition, tax-deductible donations to enter the tournament will be used to benefit the Gulf Coast Symphony Orchestra.

The bridge sessions will be at the Gulf Coast Bridge Association Club House, 142 Oleander Drive, Mississippi

City, Gulfport. The dates are January 16; February 6 and 20; March 6 and 20, and April 3 with play starting at 9:30 a.m.

Regular bridge, not duplicate, will be played. Players will select their own partners, and play together throughout the tournament.

If a player is unable to attend one of the sessions, he may send his own substitute; whose score will count. Or the chairman will find a substitute for them. A donation of $25 per person to the Gulf Coast Symphony Guild will enroll players in the tournament.

Entries may be mailed to Mrs. Lawrence G. Behan, 20 Tally Arms, 16th and Church, Miss. City, Gulfport 39501 or to Mrs. Louis Gele, 622 East Beach, Gulfport 39501. The deadline for entrance is January 14.

The activities will be centered around a general theme of re-examination of the Civil Rights Movement and the role of Dr. King.

The celebration will begin Sunday at 4 p.m. in Dansby Hall Auditorium on the university campus when the Rev. Dr. Kelley M. Smith, assistant dean of the Divinity School at Vanderbilt University, will deliver the opening sermon.

Smith will also conduct a seminar that afternoon from 2-4 p.m. in the lecture room of the Blackburn Language Arts Building.

Guest speaker for Tuesday will be Louis Farrakhan, the national spokesman for the Honorable Elijah Muhammad and the nation of Islam.

Farrakhan has spoken at almost every major college campus in the United States. He has been the guest of several countries, including Cuba, Jamaica, Guyana, Libya, Egypt, Nigeria, Uganda, and Saudi Arabia.

Farrakhan will speak on "A Restoration of Black Manhood and Black Womanhood," at 2 p.m. in the lecture room of the Blackburn Language Arts Building. He will also speak

Librarian lists new books

By PRIMA WUSNACK
Hancock Librarian

The following books may be obtained from any branch of the Hancock County Public Library System:

THE PRAISE SINGER: by Mary Renault. In her latest novel of ancient Greece, Mary Renault turns to the world of the poet - the bard who since the time of Homer had sung his verses from memory for the occasions of the court.

JUSTICE AND HER BROTHERS: by Virginia Hamilton. This is a tantalizing, hypnotic novel that some will call fiction, some science fiction, and others reality.

SECRETS: by F. Lee Bailey. When F. Lee Bailey tries a case, the headlines and news stories are read by millions. But what everyone wants to know is what really goes on behind the scenes - the maneuvers, the trading, the secret deals.

REMEMBERING: by Anna Gilbert. A spellbinding blend of suspense and romance. This is a haunting, evocative tale, alive with atmosphere and written with the same charm and elegance that won critical acclaim for Anna Gilbert's earlier books.

RUDYARD KIPLING: by Lord Birkenhead. This is a personal and lively biography with a new and fresh approach. It supplements and enlarges our knowledge and is certainly different from any biography previously published.

Loyola branches out to Slidell location

Loyola University will offer "Financial Management," an upper level finance course, in Slidell during the spring semester.

The course, which may be taken for three semester hours of credit or for non-credit, will cover financial analysis and planning, sources and uses of funds, budgeting and managing short and long term assets.

The major emphasis of the course will be placed on setting and achieving financial objectives, but basic mathematical techniques will also be used to evaluate alternate decisions.

Frank J. Stass, associate professor and assistant to the dean of City College for continuing education, will instruct the course.

Stass, who has taught at the university for more than 15 years, received his master's degree in business administration from Tulane University. He is presently a doctoral candidate.

Classes will be held at Boye Junior High School in Slidell on Wednesdays, 5:20-7:50 p.m., beginning January 17.

Participants should register at Loyola on January 11 and 12.

Admission into the university is required for those who wish to earn credit.

Exotic wood carvings displayed at Library

By JOEPILET
Articles crafted from many woods and by artisans of many lands are now on display at the City-County Library in Bay St. Louis.

They include a trivet and book stand of Shesham wood made in India. These objects were sketched free-hand on a plank, open perforation work accomplished with the use of a jigsaw, pedaled by foot and guided by hand.

Handsomely carved candlesticks made in Guatemala are shown together with a hand-carved figure of Indian origin.

Monkey pod wood was used by Hawaiian craftsmen in making gracefully shaped serving bowls.

A mug from the Philippines features a delicately carved woman's head.

Also from the Philippines are such items as the carabao (water ox) used as a draft animal and for food, and a number of articles made in the famous wood-carving area of Baguio, located on the South China Sea.

The group includes a typical bust of a native, replete with headdress still worn in the area.

A Shepherd's Cup from Yugoslavia almost completely covered with carved design is an example of folk art done by herdsmen.

Cups filled with oil are used by the shepherd when he examines the heads of his flock to remove briar or insects (Use of the cup is referred to in the 2nd Psalm).

From Spain is a heavy and ornately carved, two-handled mug with fitted top. Objects such as this are used extensively as receptacles for tobacco in areas around Madrid.

A quaint and unique nut-cracker on display was made in Switzerland.

A gaily painted swizzle stick is an example of the type used in Mexico for stirring alcoholic drinks.

Hand-carved animals from Kenya are also on display. A hand-carved mask and a trio of figurines made in Haiti are to be seen.

Figurines from Korea show "Mamma San and Papa San," and from Taiwan, Hoi Tai, God-of-Good Fortune, lifts his arms above his head and invites a rub-on-the belly for luck.

A group of small painted wooden dolls were made in Japan.

A dromedary (humped Arabian Camel) is carved of olive wood, as are the beads of the necklace on exhibit.

Miscellaneous wooden items call attention to several of the United States and include a water fowl made in Philadelphia, a turtle from the hills of Kentucky.

A miniature butter mold, pencil holder, stamp dispenser and jack rabbit are all products of Mississippi.

All articles in the exhibit are from the private collection of Joe Pilet and most are mementos of travels made with her late husband, Colonel Nunez C. Pilet.

The display will remain on the shelves at the Library through January.

Ask the VA

Q - Since separation from active duty I have maintained my $10,000 National Service Life Insurance policy. Has the law changed to allow more than $10,000?

A - Public Law 92-188, which became effective July 1, 1972, provided for the purchase of paid-up additions with dividends. This is the only way that the $10,000 maximum may be exceeded.

Q - I am a veteran of WWII. When may I apply for burial at a national cemetery?

A - Application may be made only at the time of death of the eligible veteran or eligible dependents. Application should be made to the director of the national cemetery where interment is desired.

Q - I am currently drawing nonservice-connected pension. My wife died in June of this year and there have been no other changes in my dependency or income status. Must I report Social Security paid her up to the date of her death?

A - Yes. All family income must be reported. You should, however, show the cost of her last illness and burial providing you have paid the cost out of your pocket. This is an allowable exclusion which serves to reduce your countable income for VA purposes.

New jail in Hancock

The recent escape of prisoners from the Hancock County Jail points more than ever to the need of a new jail. The bars on some of the windows have been welded so many times, one of the deputies said a person could cut them with a pocket knife.

The jail is old, out dated and obsolete. Probably if it were checked closely, not fit for human habitation.

We have noticed in recent years the building of new jail and prison facilities throughout the country with federal funds.

We feel if the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, officials of the Cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, the sheriff and the two police chiefs would all get together in an effort to secure a new central lockup for Hancock County, federal funds could be found.

There is no rule the jail must be attached to the county courthouse. When that idea was born, the reason was to have prisoners available for court appearances.

Transportation was a problem then, but it isn't any more.

A new jail could be constructed in an area which would be accessible to the Bay and Waveland police departments as well as being more convenient for the sheriff's department.

With a new central lockup there could be a central dispatch, one dispatch instead of three now being use. Some will say right off the bat that will mean someone losing a job, but we feel you are mistaken.

With a large dispatch at least two personnell would be needed at all times, and those who dispatch now in the three locations know about how they have to double up quite frequently because of a lack of dispatchers.

The Hancock County Firemen's Association has had a central dispatch since 1974 and it seems to work fine.

The central dispatch for the Hancock Firemen's Association and the Civil Defense could also be housed in the facility. Whenever there is a disaster or emergency, the people who have to know would all be in the same location.

We have talked to many of the people involved in the protection of citizens, and when we talk to them they all feel a central location is needed.

All you have to do is look at the jail and you can see the need of a new modern facility.

If we are to continue to progress in Hancock County, we have to have a unified effort between all governing bodies. In our observations of late, the working relationship between the elected officials are now at the best we can ever remember.

We feel the time is now for an all out effort to acquire funds for a new central jail and communications center.

Bay Council eyes firms for $10 million project

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Bay St. Louis Council was briefed Tuesday on background, capabilities, and experience of six engineering firms vying for the job of city engineer on a $10 million sewerage, streets and drainage improvements project.

The six firms making an appearance were at a special council meeting Advanced Development, Inc.; Broadway and Seal; Joe Brown, Inc.; Kidde Consultants; N.Y. and Associates; and Reynolds-Smith Associates.

The firms were asked for 'ballpark estimates' of their fee for a detailed survey of what Bay St. Louis needs and on what problems the city has in drainage, sewerage and street improvements throughout the city.

Broadway and Seal offered to do the survey free provided the firm got the engineering contract with the city.

Some of the engineers would not give an estimate for a lack of knowledge on the project, and those given estimates ranged from $10,000 to $20,000, with one firm quoting a 'ballpark figure' of $100,000.

The pre-application for a FmHA grant the city is trying to acquire was completed by Broadway and Seal.

In other business, the Council was unanimous in accepting the city docket for December.

The engineering firm of Joe Brown, Inc. was given authority to proceed with the Small Cities Program project in the 500 block of Washington, Sycamore and Keller Streets.

Thursday at the regular time," said Cameron.

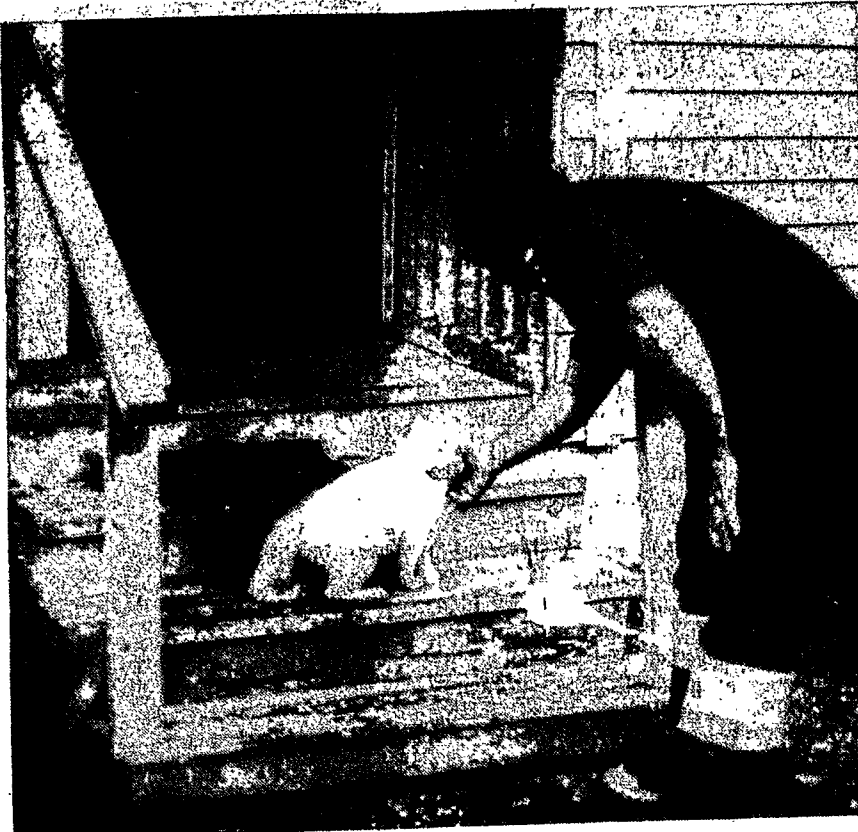

Later Wednesday afternoon, the Sea Coast Echo learned that Hamm had allegedly told Cameron the previous day, or Tuesday, that there was an ominous crack in the ceiling of the classroom where he teaches Mississippi History.

Reliable sources also reported Cameron had told Superintendent of Schools J.D. McCullough the day before the accident that there was a crack in the ceiling.

"I won't say yes and I won't say no," said Hamm, adding, "call Mr. Cameron."

Cameron denied the allegations, saying, "definitely not."

McCullough, who was also at the scene Wednesday morning, said he would convene a special meeting of the Bay School Board to look into the matter.

Depreo Trial...

apparent motive for Janice's killing."

The sheriff said Wednesday he is satisfied Depreo is the killer.

"Everything in our investigation indicates he (Depreo) did it," Landner said.

"A motive is not necessary," he added.

Atchison said he still feels a motive must be found in the case, adding he believes "anger was the evil behind this killing."

"I have tried to ask myself what type of person would commit such an act and for what reason. In my opinion, the evil here was 'anger.' As Sheriff Landner and the autopsy showed, there was no lust or rape involved and certainly no money or robbery," Atchison said.

"I have long found that an angry man is an emotional man and emotion blocks out logic," he feels.

"To make a man angry enough to do what was done would require some act by Janice Lander which would anger that person...something so emotional as to make that person lose control of his senses and react to a deep hurt," he continued.

Atchison further claims Depreo did not know Janice Lander well.

There are many unanswered questions which Atchison says he hopes to find answers for during testimony in the upcoming court battle.

According to the defense lawyer, one of the "important factors" which main unexplained in the case are: How a .32 caliber pistol which earlier had been allegedly given to Mrs. Lander got into the creek between the Lander home and the Curtis trailer where Joy Lynn ran after being shot?

Why are three spent shell found outside the front door not matched to any of the guns allegedly involved in the slaying?

Joy Lynn testified that Depreo had a gun in his sock, and after reportedly walking some five miles, why did he have no bruise or blister on his ankle the next day as verified by friends called to the witness stand?

Joy Lynn's testimony that the alleged killer had long, collar length blond hair while Depreo has short, black hair.

Testimony shows a flammable liquid was used to ignite the home - but in his alleged confession, Depreo says he merely ignited a blanket.

Atchison also said he plans to re-file court motions "For the record" which were previously denied in the earlier trial, adding testimony from the first trial might now make the motions acceptable to the court.

The motions filed earlier were: To suppress a confession made by Depreo on Apr. 22, 1978, in Norfolk, Va.

To suppress any evidence found in the Eido Depreo house through a search warrant issued on Apr. 22, 1978.

To delete Joy Lynn's testimony pertaining to the description of the alleged killer.

To produce a file allegedly kept by Earl E. (Buck) Lander, Janice Lander's estranged husband, which Earl Lander allegedly said was "thicker than the Sheriff's Department files."

To produce all U.S. Navy records pertaining to Depreo's release to Hancock County law enforcement officers on Apr. 22, 1978.

in which he lives, would be provided transportation to that school "from his front door."

Board Member Robert Hamilton's motion to accept McCullough's recommendation was seconded by Board Member Maurice Singleton and unanimously accepted by the Board.

In other school board action, a letter of resignation from Bay Senior High head football coach Billy Rhodes was accepted by the board.

Rhodes, coach of the Tigers for three years, said in his letter he was resigning "due to the lack of improvement in the win-loss record of the football team."

McCullough recommended William (Snuffy) Smith as Rhodes' replacement, and then the Board and McCullough retreated behind closed doors into executive session to discuss the matter of replacing Rhodes.

After a lengthy period, the public was allowed to re-enter the room and Board Chairman Virginia Gex said no action had been taken during executive session, and no action was taken on the matter after the board returned to open session.

remains under consideration. Bids for a refrigerator, washing machine, and tuba were opened and accepted in other board action during the meeting.

Bids to supply the refrigerator were received from Sears for $490 and Mississippi Power Company for $595.

The Board received and accepted a lone bid from Sears on the washing machine for $240.

Bids for purchase of a tuba for the band were opened, and a $768 price from Mississippi Music was approved.

Other bidders were Johnson's Music Company for $799 and PB's Melody Music for $773.

The Board also resolved the senior high school will be used as a voting place for the upcoming election of a school board member.

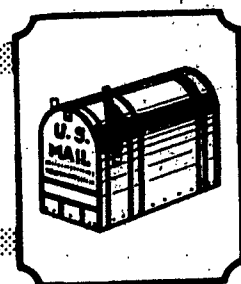

Dr. John Levens is temporarily filling a trustee position on the school board which was vacated by Jean Townsend.

The election is required by state law to elect a member for the final 12 months of Townsend's unfinished term.

The election will be held Saturday, Mar. 3, with polls open from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m., McCullough said.

Thank you very much for contacting me with regard to the Panama Canal Treaties which were ratified by the U.S. Senate.

I, too was very disappointed with the action of the Senate, as I am opposed to giving away the Canal.

However, plans have been made by the President to introduce legislation at the beginning of the 96th Congress to formalize the Panama Canal Treaties, and you may be assured that I shall oppose this legislation.

Breakfast at school

Dear Editor:

Responding to the fact that a hungry child cannot learn, several members of the Mississippi House of Representatives and Senate have prefiled bills for the 1979 Legislative Session that would require public schools to establish a breakfast program if at least one-half of the pupils in the school are eligible under existing federal requirements for free or reduced price breakfasts. While every public school participated in the School Lunch Program last year, less than 25 percent participated in the School Breakfast Program, according to statistics provided by the Food Services Division of the Mississippi Department of Education.

In addition to the sound nutritional value that is needed for children to develop to their fullest potential, the Department of Agriculture has compiled several studies that provide conclusive evidence that the School Breakfast Program has a profound impact on a child's learning abilities in terms of scholastic achievement, classroom responsiveness and general disposition. This is supported by statements of many principals in Mississippi whose schools participate. This is especially true in poor communities in which a high percentage of needy children are unlikely to have breakfasts available in their homes.

The cost of a school breakfast is either paid entirely by the Federal Government (USDA) or shared by USDA and the child's family. The amount of the child's payment for a meal is determined by the financial status of the child's family. If the bills that are being introduced would have been in effect for the current school year, public school districts could have received over $ million dollars of additional federal money to purchase breakfast food for school children, assuming that student participation in the breakfast program would be 70 percent of the present school lunch participation.

As a national nutrition and health policy, it is the purpose and intent of Congress that the School Breakfast Program be made available in all schools where it is needed to provide adequate nutrition for children in attendance.

Sincerely,
Michael Raff

Coast gets first EMT-Paramedic instruction

The Mississippi State Board of Health has approved recommendations made by the State Paramedic Committee to certify two EMT-Paramedic training programs which will be taught at the Howard Memorial Hospital in Biloxi and the Forrest General Hospital in Hattiesburg. This will be the fourth training program approved for Hattiesburg.

Dr. Alton B. Cobb, State Health Officer, said, "The training program at Howard Memorial in Biloxi is especially significant because it will extend paramedic training to a new area of the state - the Gulf Coast."

According to Wade Spruill, Director of the State Board of Health's Division of Emergency Medical Services, since the passage of a law in 1976 which authorized hospitals and ambulance services to conduct programs for the delivery of emergency medical care by paramedics, only one place in the state has held such a training program. "Forrest General Hospital in Hattiesburg held the first EMT-Paramedic training program in 1976," said Spruill. "At that time they graduated four paramedics. Since then, they have graduated 25 more trainees who comprise all of the paramedics in the state at this time."

Spruill added that on September 14, 1978, the Board of Health approved three other training programs in Corinth, Tupelo, and Starkville, which are in progress now.

According to Spruill, in order for a training program to be certified, a hospital or any other entity which has the funding and medical backing needed to maintain an advanced life support system must submit a proposal for the training program to the State Paramedic Committee. After reviewing the proposal to make certain it meets the necessary criteria, the Committee will present it to the Board of Health along with its recommendation as to whether or not it should be approved.

Coast unit takes top Seabee award

A Gulfport based Seabee battalion has been named the most outstanding of all eight Naval Mobile Construction Battalions (NMCBs) in the Navy's construction force, according to Rear Admiral D. G. Iselin, commander of the Naval Facilities Engineering Command headquartered in Washington, D.C.

NMCB 74, commanded by Cmdr. Donald McCorvey, was presented the prestigious Peltier Award by Iselin during ceremonies at the Gulfport Seabee Center Friday morning, Jan. 5.

NMCB 74 is one of four Seabee battalions homeported in Gulfport with four others assigned to Port Hueneme, Calif.

Iselin, known to some 10,000 Seabees as the "King Bee," presented the award to McCorvey as the battalion looked on.

NMCB 74 was named for the award primarily due to its 2.5 month construction effort on Diego Garcia, returning in July 1978.

The Peltier Award, named after a former chief of Navy Civil Engineer, is based on achievement in construction, military readiness, leadership, administration and morale.

The award is sponsored by the Society of American Military Engineers.

Construction efforts of the battalion while deployed to the Indian Ocean island of Diego Garcia, one of the Navy's top priority construction projects, included runway extensions, road rerouting, water treatment plants, runway lighting, barracks facilities, petroleum, oil and lubricant pumphouse and an enlisted men's club.

The Peltier announcement was made earlier than normal this year so that NMCB 74 could receive the award before they deploy to Guam and the Pacific Ocean area next week.

NMCB has been named earlier as the "Best of Type" award winner for the Atlantic Fleet, placing them in competition for the Peltier with NMCB 3, the "Best of Type" in the Pacific Fleet.

The Peltier Award, named after Rear Admiral Eugene J. Peltier, Civil Engineer Corp. (Ret.) was first presented in 1960. The winner of the Peltier for 1977 was NMCB 62, also homeported in Gulfport.

News from the Church of St. Ann

A thought for the day from the library of Father Canisius Hayes, pastor St. Ann's Parish

It takes so little to make people happy. Just a touch, if we know how to give it, just a word softly spoken, a slight readjustment of some pin, bolt or bearing in the delicate machinery of a soul.

St. Ann's Altar Society Mass will be at 5 p.m. Saturday, January 13th.

Religious instructions for students preparing to receive the Sacrament of Confirmation will be held Sunday, January 14, in parish hall following 9:15 a.m. Mass.

Religious instructions for children of St. Ann and St. John's parishes attending public school, grades first, second, third and fourth will be held on Tuesdays and for grades fifth, sixth and seventh on Thursdays in St. Ann's parish hall after school.

NCSCI
The National Council of Senior Citizens Incorporated, Waveland Club, had its first meeting in 1979 - Monday, Jan. 8 a.m.
In spite of the inclement weather, 46 members attended. President Pere Cabili welcomed everyone and asked for necessary support to keep the club an asset to the community.
Appointed officers are: Esther Oschmann, chaplain; Ruth Decker, color bearer; Charles Maum, parliamentarian; Marie Longo, telephone chairman; Marjorie Walker, hostess; Julia Loup, decorations; Odette Puchot, corresponding secretary; Mr. and Mrs. Al Carrelli, membership; Dottie Mendon, historian; Theresa Hubert, publicity; Becky Weston, horticulturist; Henry Mahan, Civil Defense; and Fred Horn, program chairman.
I would like to correct last week's column - the Council's Treasurer for 1979 is Elsie DeRoche.
Refreshments were served and the door prize was presented by Mrs. Gavagnie on behalf of Security Savings and Loan Company.

PE for handicapped subject of workshop
A new federal law concerning physical education for handicapped students that went into effect Sept. 1, 1978 will be the topic of a state wide conference at the University of Southern Mississippi on Jan. 19-20.
Since most public schools in Mississippi do not offer physical education to their students it is difficult for them to comply with Public Law 94-142.
The conference will cover state certification requirements in adapted physical education to meet the needs of handicapped students, curriculum guidelines and needs, motor assessment and prescription, personnel preparation for both graduate and undergraduate and a study of PL 94-142 and its physical education implications.
The conference is under the joint sponsorship of the USM School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation; the Bureau of Education for the Handicapped (OHEW-DE) and the Mississippi State Department of Education.
It should be of special interest to university professors and administrators concerned with physical education for the handicapped; graduate and undergraduate students in adapted physical education, special education and/or corrective therapy; special, regular and physical education elementary and secondary teachers who are currently teaching parents of handicapped and non-handicapped students and interested and concerned citizens.
Program participants will include Dr. Leon Johnson who is one of the foremost authorities in the nation on adapted physical education. He has served on the President's Committee for the Employment of the Handicapped and was instrumental in lobbying for the inclusion of physical education in PL 94-142.
Others include Dean Walter E. Cooper of USM, Gene Kiddy of the Meridian Public Schools, Mel Evans of Jackson State University and Alfred Arrington of Mississippi Valley State University.
Michael W. Churton, a USM physical education faculty member who has been actively involved in the development of appropriate special physical education programs in Mississippi for the past three years, is conference facilitator.

Health care cost increases reflected in Medicaid gains

The Mississippi Medicaid Commission today released its report on the increase in units of services provided. The increase is from July through October in 1979 (FY79) over July through October in 1978 (FY78).
"Although the number of eligibles have remained stable through the 1978 and 1979 period, there has been a considerable increase in the services provided and their cost for 1979," stated B.F. Simmons, Director of the Mississippi Medicaid Commission. "People are just using more and more of the services that have been made available through Medicaid."
Leading the eighteen (18) areas on increases of services provided and costs are skilled nursing home days, intermediate nursing home days, ICF-MR days, doctor visits, drug claims (prescriptions), screening claims, EPSDT eye glasses, and family planning drugs.
The following examples show some of the major areas of increases and their increased cost:
The average cost of one intermediate nursing home day is $4.19 in FY79 (FY78-$4.15). FY79-$4.19. This increase resulted in $50,323 additional Medicaid dollars. Medicaid records show an increase of 14,801 skilled nursing home days that were used. This increase in days cost Medicaid $25,354. Total cost of Medicaid is $44,502.
The average cost of one intermediate nursing home day is $4.19 in FY79 (FY78-$4.15). FY79-$4.19. This increase resulted in $50,323 additional Medicaid dollars. 'Middle income relief'

Compretta tax cut bill goes to Senate

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

Hancock County Representative J. P. Compretta has co-authored a $52 million tax cut bill which passed in Mississippi House of Representatives and is now in the State Senate.

Compretta said the bill is basically designed to aid people in the middle income bracket and added, "I'm for any type of tax cut."

The House voted 114 to 2 in favor of the tax cut bill.

"The bill is in the Senate now, but we don't expect the house bill to be approved as it exists," said Compretta, "the Senate has been working on its own tax bill and is bound to make some changes."

The House-passed tax bill would eliminate some 188,550 single taxpayers and married couples from the state income tax rolls by raising the single exemption from $4,500 to $6,000.

Married and head of family non-taxable income would be raised from $6,500 to $9,500; and the dependents exemption from $750 to $1,500.

Also under the plan, single persons who paid $80 or less in taxes last year and married couples who paid $165 or less would be wiped off the tax rolls.

The entire Coast delegation voted for the House tax reduction bill.

Included in the delegation are Representatives J. P. Compretta, Bay St. Louis; Gerald Blessey, Biloxi; Dennis Dollar, Gulfport; Glenn Endris, Biloxi; Tommy Gollott, Biloxi; Lynn Havens, Gulfport; Dempsey Levi, Ocean Springs; Charles Lippian, Pascagoula; Frank Lynn, Moss Point; Ted Millette, Pascagoula; Jerry O'Keffe Jr., Biloxi; Pat Presley, Pascagoula; and Bill Wilkerson, Lucedale.

The Senate Finance Committee is also working on its tax cut proposal which includes income, sales and ad valorem tax provisions.

The Senate's proposal is a $36.9 million package.

"The Senate's version of a tax cut should be out in about a month or so," said Compretta.

What will probably happen, explained Compretta, is the Senate and the House will appoint a joint committee to represent both tax cut proposals, with that group formulating a final tax cut bill.

The 1979 session has also produced an overwhelming override of Governor Cliff Finch's veto last year of a Sunset Bill.

The Sunset Bill requires 70 state agencies to periodically justify their existence or be abolished.

The House voted 98-11 to override the veto and the Senate count was 44-3 in favor of the legislation.

"I voted to override the veto because I'm in favor of reducing taxes," said Compretta.

The Sunset veto override was the first time lawmakers have overruled Finch during the governor's three-year-old administration.

Finch called the measure "token reform," and argued the bill should have covered all 270 state agencies and the 70 it does encompass account for only 6 percent of state expenditures.

Compretta said he voted for 70 agencies to be abolished if they could not justify their existence because, "Sunset legislation is new and we feel it's better to handle a small portion at a time."

"Besides," continued the Hancock legislator, "there is a clause that repeals this Sunset Bill in 1982 or 1983 if the plan does not work."

Finch said the bill violates the separation of state powers by allowing the Legislature to abolish agencies created by executive order.

In other action, the House approved a $17.9 million appropriation to expand and upgrade State Penitentiary facilities at Parchman.

Monthly jobless rate drops 4.5%

By RICH ADAMS

Unemployment in Hancock County at the end of November, 1978 was estimated at 7.3 percent, a 4.5 percent decrease from the unemployment rate for the county recorded in November, 1977, the Mississippi State Employment Service said Monday.

The drop in the unemployment rate was recorded despite a civilian labor force of 7,440 for November, 1978, identical to that of November, 1977.

According to John Howie, statistician for the Gulfport branch of the MSES, the figures in the unemployment rate are accurate despite the matching civilian labor forces.

He said the method for computing unemployment rates has recently changed, resulting in the seemingly erroneous estimates.

Howie said the U.S. Commerce

Department performs a current population survey during the week of the 12th of each month.

He said the Commerce Department surveys 500 families in the state and estimates unemployment from the results of that survey.

Examples of the figures for establishment based employment which were released by the MSES are:

—NON DURABLE GOODS FOR 1978-5,020 employees, a decrease of 200 employees from November, 1977.

—CONSTRUCTION FOR 1978-80 employees, a decrease of 70 employees from November, 1977.

—TRANSPORTATION AND PUBLIC UTILITIES FOR 1978-170 employees, a decrease of 50 from November, 1977.

—WHOLESALE AND RETAIL TRADING FOR 1978-630 employees, a decrease of 30 from November, 1977.

—SERVICE AND MISCELLANEOUS FOR 1978-1,390, a decrease of 290 employees from November, 1977.

The job forces of establishment based employment increased overall 570 persons, but also decreased in specific areas by 650 employees.

Judith Landon, Bay St. Louis representative of the MSES, echoed Howie's assessment of job situations in the county.

"I have been in this job for three years, and there are more industries and jobs than ever before," Ms. Landon said.

no jurisdiction over the construction," Smith alleged.

Smith added the statement prepared by the Commission was vague.

"If specifics on construction of the railroad can be predicted than so can the environmental effects of the railroad," emphasized Smith.

Save the Bay requests proper impact studies

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

Save the Bay Attorney Robert Smith told members of the environmentalist group Tuesday night success or failure of its campaign against Dupont should be determined within the next six months.

Smith said there are presently two suits by Save the Bay still in court against the $150 million titanium dioxide plant nearing completion in Delisle.

One of the suits is to prevent the outpouring of effluents by the company into the Bay of St. Louis.

Smith said the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs did a study in a matter of days instead of months on the effects of the effluent Dupont will discharge into the Bay.

"They can't even exactly reproduce the materials which will be discharged out of the pipe, and besides the study should have been done in a matter of months," not days," said Smith.

"Presently," Smith continued, "the case is sitting on the desk of Judge John Roper U.S. Magistrate of U.S. District Court in Biloxi."

Smith is scheduled to argue Save the Bay's position with Judge Roper Jan. 16 that a proper study of the effects of the effluents be done before Dupont is allowed to dump their waste into the Bay.

If Judge Roper rules in favor of the study previously done, then the case will go before U.S. District Judge Harold Cox, Smith stated.

Smith said if Judge Cox also rules against Save the Bay, the next move would be to the Fifth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to appeal Cox's decision.

Attorney's Smith and his associate Earl Denham will argue Save the Bay's other suit Jan. 18 seeking a preliminary injunction against the construction of a 13.5 mile short railroad track from Gulfport to Dupont's chemical plant in Delisle.

Smith said a proper secondary impact statement on the future effects of the railroad has not been done.

Save the Bay attorneys filed suit in federal court in Biloxi last October alleging an inadequate environmental impact statement was used as the basis for illegal granting of construction permits for the rail line.

The environmental impact statement was prepared by the Interstate Commerce Commission which is in charge of operations of the railroad not construction, therefore the ICC has

Admirals crush Hawks in Harrison Central finals

The Hancock North Central Hawks, advancing to the finals against Gulfport in the Harrison Central Invitational, lost to the Admirals 99-60 in court action Saturday.

Alan Dedeaux led the Hawks with 29 points in semi-final play Friday as they handed McGill-Toolen an 80-74 defeat.

Dean Shaw added 18 points for the Hawks, followed by Moses Hill's 18 points, 10 rebounds, and six assists. Dedeaux scored 23 points in the loss to Gulfport, as Barry Arment and Dean Shaw added 11 and 10 points respectively.

Before the final match-up, Hancock head coach Roland Ladner said, "We have a lot of respect for Gulfport. I know we can play with them."

"We just cannot afford to make mistakes and will have to play with a lot of zeal," Ladner added.

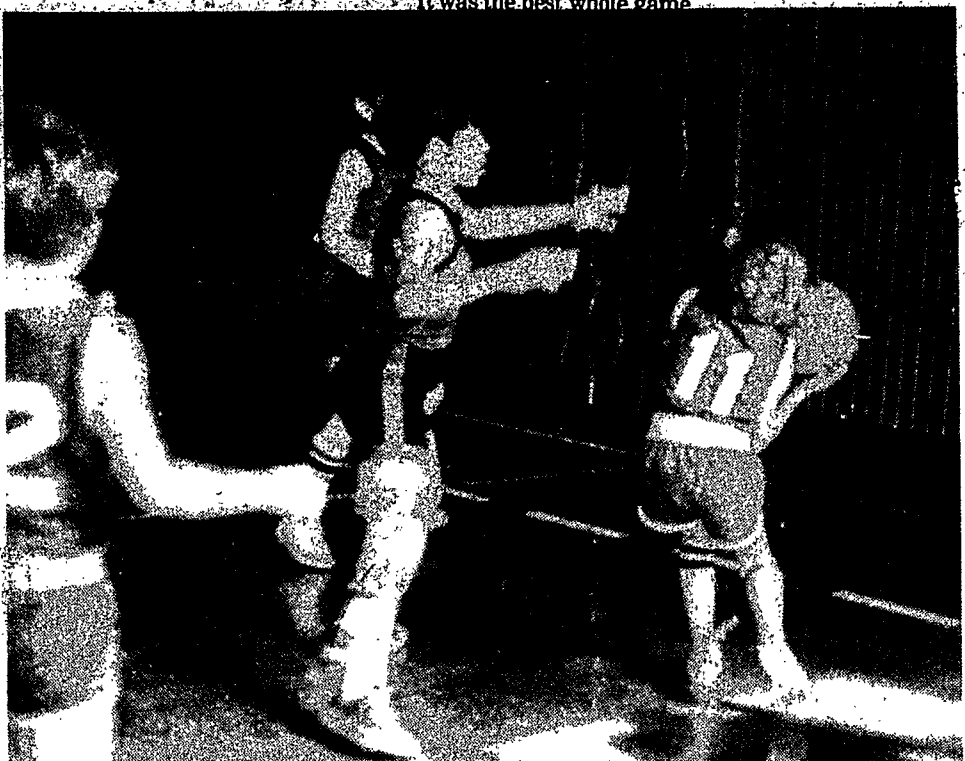

can't figure out why...we were lucky and hot," Gulfport coach Bert Jenkins said after the game.

The Admirals made 51 percent of their field goals and 77 percent of their free throws.

The Gulfport five handed Hancock a defeat earlier last month in the Mississippi Coast Coliseum, downing the Hawks 93-85.

The HNC squad now posts a 14-8 record for the regular season. The Admirals are 18-flawless in their play during and remain unbeaten in the winning effort.

USM CHEERLEADERS TAKE FIRST-These University of Southern Mississippi Cheerleaders have supported their basketball team, ranked fifth in the nation in offensive scoring, to a 6-4 record. FISHIN' TIPS

from...Tom Mann

HEY TOM: "I know you fish all over and this is really pinning you down, but if you could have only one cast, one lure, competing in a $25,000 winner-take-all bass tournament, which lure would you choose? HARDHEAD JOE

HELLO HARDHEAD: Boy, they sure named you right? Well, I'd choose a 6-inch Strawberry flavored plastic worm, use a 1/4-ounce slip sinker, fire it a country mile along a deep, weedy shore, and grow old bringing it back.

DEAR TOM: "I've heard lure manufacturers make lures to catch fishermen, not fish. True?" INQUISITIVE

HELLO INQUIZ: I'm sure this has happened in the past but it cost too much today to make this gamble. Every lure is thoroughly field tested, and if the fish don't buy it there's no use trying to sell it to fishermen.

DEAR TOM: "When I can't catch a fish all day, I get so frustrated I could spit fire. Is it true you experts always catch fish?" GOTTA KNOW

HELLO GOTTA: Don't you believe it, all fishermen get wiped out at times. The only guy I ever knew who always caught fish was a tricky friend of mine who, when he got skunked, would go to the fish market on his way home. He'd buy some fish, then ask the man to wrap them and toss them to him. That way he could always say he caught some fish.

Tony Robateau led the Tigers with 10 points, followed by Thyrone Williams' nine points.

The Mississippi Library Association is composed of college, university, public, special, and school librarians from throughout the state, and serves as the official organization of the profession. A native of Jackson, and a JST alumna, Dr. Rhodes received a M.A. from Atlanta University and a Ph.D. from Florida State DISTRICT CHIEF Joseph A. Gilbert Jr., right, Bay St. Louis native and son of Joseph A. Gilbert, left, of Shoreline Park, has been named a district chief by the New Orleans Fire Department, assigned to District Eight or Algiers area of the city. Gilbert, who has served with NOFD since 1964, held the rank of captain before his promotion to district chief.

Wildlife's news year reported by Federation

Wars, floods, earthquakes, inflation, and other untoward events contributed to the news in 1978.

But it was also a big new year for wildlife, according to survey by the National Wildlife Federation.

During the year, a tiny fish, the snail darter, stopped construction of a $120 million dam in Tennessee and a diamond-back rattlesnake, concealed in a mailbox as a murder weapon, bit and nearly killed a Los Angeles attorney.

Hundreds of other animals made headlines during the year.

A few of them made the news tickers by getting kidnapped - a 75-pound Galapagos turtle named Little Rock that was whisked from a Brooklyn motel room; a large octopus that was eventually abandoned on the floor of a San Francisco ladies' room; a batch of snakes valued at $5,000 abducted from a Glen Burnie, Md., reptile house, and nine pigs.

Well, it was originally one pig, stolen from a farm in Washington County, Mo., but by the time she reached St. Louis she had produced eight piglets.

There were also a lot of animals who were harshly reminded that it's a man's world: Willie the Whale, who strayed into port at Cherbourg, France, and paralyzed harbor traffic for five days before dying of starvation; thousands of fish who were poisoned in Dijon, France, when a disgruntled employee poured $500,000 worth of his boss's fine burgundy into village sewers; a deer who crashed through a Beltsville, Md., woman's bathroom window and landed in her bathtub; and a colony of eager beavers who were trapped and relocated when their dams flooded pastures, fields and gardens around Moscow, Idaho.

Some critters made news by making unusual adjustments to man's presence. A city-wise fox set up housekeeping under the bleachers in Yankee Stadium. And in Baltimore, Md., a peregrine falcon, normally a bird of the wilderness, settled on the 32nd floor of a downtown building. Her new neighbors named her Scarlet.

The animal who behaved most like a human in 1978? It would have to be Koko, a 130-pound California gorilla who's learned 375 "words" in the sign language used by the deaf. Koko learned to lie, insult, and swear in sign language - all human failings.

In an attempt to keep coyotes from preying on ranchers' sheep just don't taste good. They're injecting dead sheep with lithium chloride and leaving them for the dog-like wild animals. The lithium chloride doesn't kill the coyotes, just gives them an upset stomach.

In Washington, D.C., government scientists announced that they're trying a different tactic. They're attempting to train a shaggy-haired Hungarian dog, the Komondor, to protect sheep from coyotes. In preliminary tests, they said, the hulking 120-pound watchdogs - which can cost up to $500 - intimidated caged coyotes simply by walking past them.

If the tests succeed, the use of Komondors may turn out to be the shaggy dog story of 1979.

Stanislaus teacher to head tour group

Mrs. Helen Currie, St. Stanislaus teacher, has been appointed by the American Institute for Foreign Study of Greenwich, Conn.

AIFS has been developing educational travel programs abroad for 15 years. More than 130,000 students have participated in these "experiences" abroad.

On the program, "Alsatian Adventure," the students will be staying at the University of Strasbourg for three weeks and may enroll in classes organized by the University.

One additional week will be spent exploring other varied cultures of Europe. This itinerary enables the group to enjoy their summer vacation while discovering Europe.

Mrs. Currie has noted there are places available in the group and interested students and their parents are invited to contact St. Stanislaus for further information.

To help the students prepare for and understand their trip better, Mrs. Currie will schedule several meetings prior to departure.

Among the students from this area who are planning to participate in the program are: Carlos Lozano, Mindy Dodson, Pamela Jordan and Mark Rittiner.

Arson discounted in marina fire

By RICH ADAMS
State Fire Marshal Norman Cowart and local fire officials "have strong feelings" arson was not involved in Friday evening's fire at the Bay Marina in which nine boats and ten trailers were destroyed.

According to Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner's Chief Deputy Ronnie Peterson, Cowart, East Hancock County Volunteer Fire Chief Jay Marsh, and Waveland Fire Chief Kenneth Fayard found no evidence to indicate arson was involved in the fire.

Peterson said the fire officials suspect a heater or faulty wiring caused the blaze at the Washington Street pier which resulted in some $150,000 in damages to vessels and trailers.

The blaze, accompanied by an explosion, also destroyed part of the marina's dry storage shed, fire officials said.

The explosion, which rocked the Bay Marina neighborhood, apparently was caused by fire reaching the gasoline tank of one of the boats, the officials said.

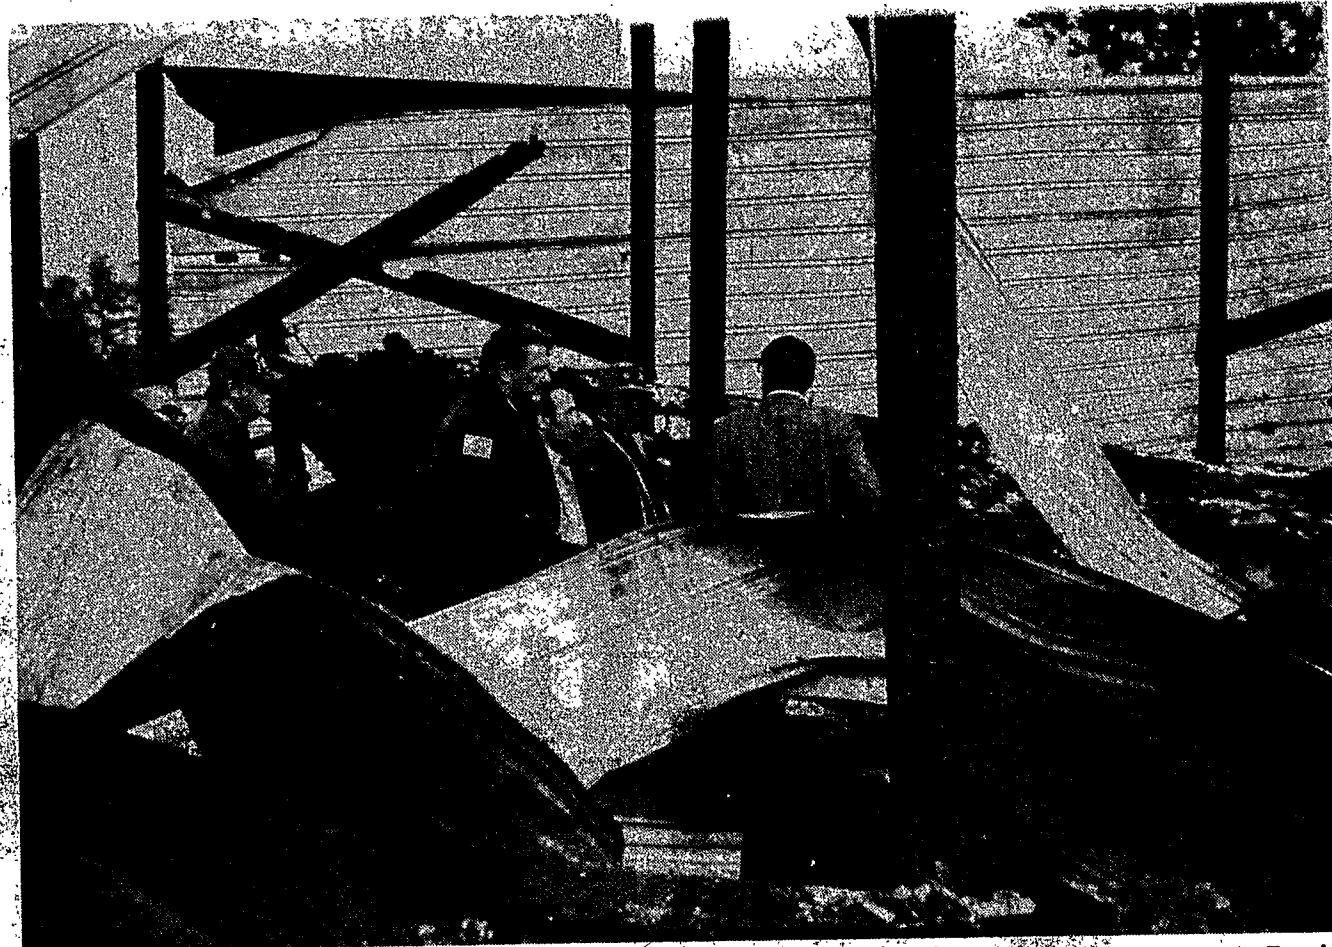

REDUCED TO ASHES - Nine boats valued at more than $150,000 were destroyed in a dry storage area fire at Bay Marina on Washington Road Friday night. Officials investigating the fire Saturday concluded the blaze was accidentally caused. They include, from left, Chief Jay Marsh,

East Hancock Volunteer Fire Department; Chief Deputy Ronnie Peterson, Hancock County Sheriff's Department; W. B. Geiger, Bay Marina harbormaster; State Fire Marshal Norman Cowart of Wiggins; and Lt. Richard Pate, Bay St. Louis Fire Department. (Staff photo - Ellis Cuevas)

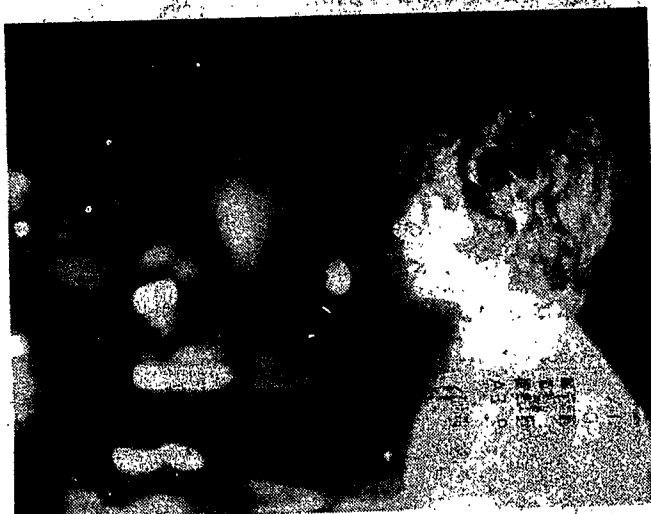

CHOKING SMOKE - Firemen were hampered in their battle against fire at Bay Marina on Washington Road Friday night by an acrid smoke produced by burning fiberglass on the nine craft destroyed in the blaze. (Staff photo - Randy Ponder)

TWISTED SHEETMETAL from the collapsed roof of a dry storage area of Bay Marina on Washington Road surrounds officials investigating cause of a Friday night fire. Among officials looking into the incident the next day are Ray Wolford, Marina property manager; W. B. Geiger, harbormaster; Deputy Delbert Seay and Chief Deputy Ronnie Peterson of the Hancock County Sheriff's office; Investigator Robert Tartavouille of Waveland Police Department; and State Fire Marshal Norman Cowart of Wiggins. (Staff photo - Ellis Cuevas)

HEARS EXPLOSION - Warren Scleson, 15, is among the many spectators drawn to Friday night's Bay Marina fire by the sound of an explosion which shook the surrounding neighborhood. Scleson heard the explosion - which authorities said was apparently caused by fire reaching the gas tank of one of the nine boats destroyed - from his residence several blocks away at 13th Street and First Avenue. (Staff photo - Edgar Perez)

INTENSE FLAMES - and acrid smoke were generated by burning fiberglass boats valued at an estimated $150,000 which were destroyed in a Bay Marina fire Friday night. The blaze was determined to have started accidentally, according to investigators. (Staff photo - Ellis Cuevas)

Coast Episcopal's Furr is tops in Scholarship

Sara Furr has won the Century III Leaders Scholarship Competition at Coast Episcopal High School, according to Dr. Paul Shafer, headmaster.

The 17-year-old senior is now eligible to compete with other high school seniors throughout Mississippi for two $1,000 scholarships, two $500 scholarships, and also for a $10,000 national scholarship that will be awarded in a conference of state winners in Colonial Williamsburg, Virginia.

Ms. Furr triumphed in the local phase of the Century III Leaders Program, a scholarship competition which emphasizes the future concerns of America.

Students were judged on the basis of their leadership ability, community involvement and score on a current events examination. To compete at the state level, Ms. Furr has written a brief projection on lining what she thinks is one of America's future challenges and how it should be met.

The two Mississippi winners will receive an all-expense paid trip to the third annual Century III National Leadership Seminar in Williamsburg, March 1-6, to participate in seminars on current issues.

IRS urges saving receipts, records

Taxpayers should begin gathering receipts and other records to support claims on their returns, the Internal Revenue Service said.

The records, according to the IRS, will help taxpayers, particularly those who itemize, complete accurate returns. The records can also be used to back-up various claims in case of examination, and remind taxpayers of possible overlooked deductions.

For easy reference, the records should be sorted into the categories which appear on Schedule A of Form 1040, the IRS said.

When itemizing, taxpayers should bear in mind interest paid on loans and mortgages, as well as payments for medical insurance which are documented on various financial statements.

These amounts are often deductible, according to the IRS, and easily overlooked by the taxpayer.

Medical expenses, union dues and charitable contributions are a few other commonly-claimed deductions for which IRS auditors often request supporting evidence.

The IRS said it's a good idea to keep both cancelled checks and bills when possible.

Taxpayers should not attach receipts or cancelled checks to their tax returns, the IRS said.

Telephone excise tax takes January drop

Telephone customers in Mississippi will pay less federal excise tax on their telephone service as of January 1, according to F.M. Kyle, Jr., South Central Bell's district manager for the Gulf Coast.

On bills rendered on or after that date, the federal excise tax rate on local and long distance charges will be reduced one percent, from four to three.

The reduction results from an act passed by Congress in 1970, which calls for the gradual reduction of the federal excise tax rate on telephone service. The tax will continue to be reduced one percent a year until it is completely eliminated in 1982.
